1 . Ocmulgee Brewpub : Slush Storm Were all guilty of running to the grocery store in a panic to buy all of the milk, bread and eggs we can fit in our buggy at the first sign of a flurry. Cheers to watching the madness with an OBP beer in hand!	Macon : Ga	7.0/23	Christmas Ale
2 . Rogue Ales : Santa's Private Reserve (1/2 Pint) Rogue's annual holiday offering, Santa's Private Reserve, is a variation of the classic Saint Rogue Red, but with double the hops--including Chinook, and Centennial, and a mystery hop called Rudolph by head brewer John "more hops" Maier!	Newport : Oregon	5.0/44	Amber Ale
3 . Heavy Seas : Winter Storm A mix of pale and darker malts give it its tawny color and its bigger body. True to the style, Winter Storm's aroma is nutty malts and earthy hops. This is a perfect fall beer, especially because of its warming qualities.	Baltimore : Maryland	7.5/50	ESB
4 . St. Bernardus : Christmas Ale (1/2 pints) St. Bernardus Christmas Ale offers a spicy, mint-like flavor profile exuding the tastes of warming alcohol, fermented molasses, apricots, licorice and marzipan that are highlighted by the perfect balance of brewing sugars.	Watou : Belgium	10.0/	Quadrupel
5 . Highland Brewing : Cold Mountain Winter It is typically malty in body, lightly hopped, and rounded out with a delicious mix of spices that vary from year to year.	Asheville : NC	5.2/28	Christmas Ale
